GERMANY PLANS TO BUY

Germany is planning to buy a large quantity of American goods, including automobiles, and to pay for them in gold.

The German government has decided to buy a large quantity of American goods, including automobiles, and to pay for them in gold.

More than one American would be willing to lend five millions, taking as security the Berlin Madonna, Raphael's great painting of the Virgin with the child in her arms.

The one painting would amply repay five millions or twenty millions.

Germany has works of art which five hundred millions and more might safely be paid for. The pictures could be brought home carefully, on land through, and for the situation of our civilization, Germany would not wish them for a short time, but would not them back on payment of the debt.

THE HENRY FORD, who has lately taken to buying automobiles in a small scale, and is said to have a good deal of cash change, would be willing to buy five millions or a hundred millions, bringing over as security a diamond necklace, for a good set exhibition in Detroit.

Such an "Art Ship" could make a good money draft to the "Cash Ship".

THE PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD concludes successful experiments with automatic safety devices, and is to be re-evaluated.

These devices, connecting track and locomotive electrically, stop trains automatically with an action on the part of the engineer or trainman when there is danger of collision or an open switch.

The railway thing is that railroads should be left to accept or reject such safety devices according to their own will.

In Connecticut, such devices have been in use successfully and have not been kept secret. Their use should be compulsory.

SIR BRODERICK HARTWELL, Englishman, forms a company for shipping whiskey here on a gigantic scale. The British government, questioned in the Commons, says it will permit him what it will do about this open advertisement for selling against the laws of another country.

Sir Broderick's cigarette promises investors 20 per cent. on their money every six months. It is not likely there will be any interference with his scheme, even at this end, and here, not very effective, judging by the price and abundance of British whiskey.

SOME PROSPECTORS' young gentlemen started a New York machine fight between New York and Newport.

Drinking, gambling in particular, the customers were in a great hurry to get where they were going.

Unfortunate one passenger was killed, and now the line is abandoned. That seems to show lack of sporting blood.

IN FRANCE, when railroads started, many were killed on the first trip from Paris to Versailles. The public, frightened, would not ride, so the company hired a train of actors to sit at the car windows and rail as though they liked it. Railroads have not yet.

In France, England, Germany, Russia, flying machine lines are as common as coach lines used to be. High-speed flying American millionaires should not give up simply because one gets killed. They are setting a good example to the "lower classes."

READS OF HARDING'S DEATH DROPS DEAD

New York, Aug. 3.—An accident had not dropped dead of heart failure in the Third Avenue subway station early today, as he glanced at the front page of a newspaper, exclaiming, "President Harding's death."

Nation Plunged into Mourning

ARRANGE FOR STATE FUNERAL

Elaborate Ceremonies at Capital Will Precede Burial at Marion, Ohio, Home

San Francisco, Aug. 3.—Arrangements for the funeral services of the late President were announced today following a conference of his Cabinet members with Mrs. Harding.

Funeral services will be held in the town in which the President died at 10 o'clock tonight. The service will be conducted by the Rev. James S. West, pastor of the First Baptist Church of this city and will be private, only members of the official party and intimate friends being admitted.

Immediately after the services the remains will be taken to the capital at 11:30 and will be interred under a canopy of a body of marines, who will be armed.

At 1 o'clock the train is scheduled to depart for the East.

THE PRESIDENT'S remains will be taken to the Capitol Building, where they will lie in state in the rotunda and where the funeral services will be held on a day to be arranged.

After the funeral the President's body will be taken to Marion, Ohio.

Major General Charles G. Norton, commanding the ninth Army Corps Area, and Col. C. E. Stanton were among those who arrived soon after word of the President's death, was made public.

Albion Edward Simpson, commander of the Twelfth Naval District, said that the Navy would make complete preparations to assist in all necessary details, both in San Francisco ceremonies, and in forwarding the body to Washington.

LOBBIES CLEARED.

The management of the Palace Hotel cleared the lobbies of all senators and members of Congress.

Telegraph and telephone offices immediately opened direct communication from the Presidential suite to Washington and to the home of President Coolidge.

The Presidential flag was lowered from the flagpole on the Palace.

PLAN TO RETURN.

The President's party as it has been traveling, with the addition of General Pershing, Attorney General Daugherty, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Ross and family, Mrs. Roosevelt being a sister of President Harding, will leave San Francisco with a military and naval guard of about six hundred men and two officers, representing the army and a like representation of the navy.

No steps will be made on route except those necessary in operation of the train. The train will go from San Francisco via Reno, Ogden, Cheyenne, Omaha, Chicago and New York to Washington.

The President's remains will be placed in the rear car, which will be guarded at night, and at all times two soldiers and two sailors will stand at attention guarding the casket.

The remains will not be taken from the hotel except in a direct line to the train. There will be only a very simplest private ceremony at the hotel before they are moved.

Sympathy of France

Paris, Aug. 3.—(A.P.)—Premier Poincaré made the following statement today: "All France lives in deepest sympathy before the bereavement of the United States. The Premier drafted a cablegram to Secretary Hughes, and another to Mr. Coolidge."

HARDING'S END LIKE CLIMAX TO DRAMA

San Francisco, Aug. 3.—No sudden climax ever succeeded by the brain of a dramatist could have equaled that of the passing of the President. Only a few hours before the details had reported his gathering steadily and steadily on the eighth floor of the hotel at the time.

The corridor, which had been jammed with the coming and going of constant crowds for some days, was almost deserted. It was the dinner hour. The members of the cabinet and personal friends of the President who have been his constant companions on the Alaskan tour were downcast, dazed.

Only the usual secret service guard and a few casual newspaper correspondents, their vigilance relaxed because of the continued quiet, waited in the President's room, which was about the hall.

Eight floors below there, in the customary dinner throng, gay and happy, gathering in the great dining room to the accompaniment of an orchestra.

Into this crowd there suddenly dashed frantic, half boys, young members of the cabinet, the members of the party, but honest of all, the doctors.

The conferring in the great dining room, where the naval officers, whose home had been first to the tips of a frantic and terrified nurse, was dining with Gen. John J. Pershing. He was one of the dining room and across the lobby into the elevators where the boys were still running between the tables.

No one knew what the word COMES OF DEATH.

Shortly the word came down. The death of President Harding was announced in exactly the same way as the bulletin of his condition had been, passed word to word since his illness.

NEW PRESIDENT'S VIEWS ON IMMIGRATION, TARIFF, PEACE

TELEPHONE CO. PROVIDES WIRE FOR COOLIDGE

In Plymouth, Vt., where Calvin Coolidge was spending his vacation, the nearest telephone was some distance from his old home. The New England Telephone company officials knew that they could not get the first "flash" of the President's death, at the time in Malden, Washington.

It was just midnight when George O. Booth, circuit engineer, received the first "flash" of the President's death, at the time in Malden, Washington.

For the next two hours "Steve Coolidge" was the slogan of the company. Orders from Mr. Booth went to Plymouth. A second crew, in autos, rushed to the Coolidge home, and from there, one hour and forty-five minutes after Mr. Booth had received the "flash," the successor to President Harding was talking to Washington.

The company installed Morse instruments in Plymouth for the use of the press. A string of wire, eight miles long was stretched over the rocky country roads, in the dead of night, from Bellows Falls to Plymouth and six hours after the sad news arrived, the International News Service had an operator sending out messages to the nation.

"It was all part of a day's work," declared Mr. Booth, speaking of the feat. "We anticipated to some extent, the possibilities, and when the

Coolidge's Name Originally John Calvin

Plymouth Notch, Vt., Aug. 3.—Born on the fourth of July, 1872, upstairs in a little building combining country store, postoffice, and home here, Calvin Coolidge was first christened John Calvin Coolidge after his father, later a colored an Governor Michener's staff.

"He first dropped the 'John' to 'Cal,' signing himself as J. Calvin Coolidge," explained Calvin Coolidge. "He appeared to dislike the linking of the first two names as perhaps implying too much of the stern Calvinistic ideas."

"Later he dropped the initial 'J' and has since been a plain Calvin Coolidge."

Governor Baxter Puts Maine in Mourning

Augusta, Me., Aug. 3.—Governor Baxter ordered all state flags at half staff for 20 days, and a period of mourning upon receipt early today of news of the death of President Harding.

He sent the following telegram to Mr. Harding:

"The State of Maine is overwhelmed with grief. I am shocked beyond expression. The nation never had a more beloved and accomplished President. May God give you strength and courage to bear this great affliction."

Kept from Wilson

Washington, Aug. 3 (AP).—Word of the death of President Harding was withheld tonight from former President Wilson, who had retired before the news reached Washington.

COOLIDGE WILL BE SUCCESS, SAYS BARRON

Charles W. Barron, publisher of the Boston News Bureau, a personal friend of President Harding, said in a statement shortly after the President's death:

"Governor and John Harding knew he was a good-hearted man and always endeavored to serve the country disinterestedly."

"Nobody can say he was without great grief, but he was not a man of destiny and had the right kind of matter to guide the country in the serious economic problems that confront the world today."

"He has never made a mistake in action or in public address on economic questions and no man is better fitted or equipped to lead the United States in its present emergency position before the world."

"I personally urged President Harding to put Vice President Coolidge in the cabinet and he agreed to do so. So Vice President Coolidge has had exceptional opportunity to compare for the post which is before him."

"Calvin Coolidge will be a success as President and will be nominated and re-elected for a second term."

"The business interests will join to support him as they grew behind President Harding."

Congressman James A. Gallivan said last night, in regard to President Harding's death:

"Every man in America is sure to his heart that a real fellow has gone to his last reward. I have known one of the finest men I have ever met in public life. I think he has been one of the real Presidents of the United States."

WHAT MR. COOLIDGE HAS SAID ON LEADING QUESTIONS

Here are the new President's views on some of the leading questions of the day, being excerpts gleaned from speeches made by him during the last two years:

ON IMMIGRATION—I believe that our present immigration laws are not too strict. We will not be able to handle the present and future immigration unless we have a law that will not only protect our country but also protect the immigrants who are coming to our country. We must remember that we are a nation of immigrants and we must treat them as such.

ON THE WHITE HOUSE—The White House is one of the great landmarks of our country. It is a place where the President of the United States lives and works. It is a place where the people of the United States can see the President and hear him speak. It is a place where the President can see the people and hear their voices.

ON THE ECONOMY—The economy of the United States is a very important matter. It is a matter that affects the lives of every citizen. We must remember that the economy is the foundation of our country. We must take care of it and make it strong and stable.

ON THE TARIFF—The tariff is a very important matter. It is a matter that affects the lives of every citizen. We must remember that the tariff is the foundation of our country. We must take care of it and make it strong and stable.

ON THE PEACE—The peace of the world is a very important matter. It is a matter that affects the lives of every citizen. We must remember that the peace is the foundation of our country. We must take care of it and make it strong and stable.

ON THE FUTURE—The future of the United States is a very important matter. It is a matter that affects the lives of every citizen. We must remember that the future is the foundation of our country. We must take care of it and make it strong and stable.

Laddie Boy Waits in Vain For His Kind Master

Today the world awaits the passing of a good and kind man. King, prince, potentate and commoner flock to his communication over the cables. The people of the United States, regardless of their political faith, are sad.

In the White House is one of the great landmarks of our country. It is a place where the President of the United States lives and works. It is a place where the people of the United States can see the President and hear him speak. It is a place where the President can see the people and hear their voices.

DEATH IS SHOCK TO LODGE

Senator Lodge was informed of President Harding's death at his summer home at East Point, Nantuxet, by a representative of the Boston American. The Senator was so overcome at the news that he could not be interviewed.

"I am dumfounded. I was thinking," he could not finish the sentence, "I was thinking of the Senator's wife, but I am so overcome that I cannot finish the sentence."

Today at his home at East Point, Nantuxet, Senator Henry Cabot Lodge gave out the following statement:

"The death of the President has come with the shock of suddenness, and before we had time to realize that he had come to leave his mortal coil, he had been with us for so long, and had grown to be very fond of him. My mind this morning is that which dwells on the memory of a great leader, the sense of personal loss, with the emotion of a very strong affection."

TO WIN PRIZE.
He had a remarkable paper, but it was not yet to appear in his time. He was a man of great ability, and his death has been a great loss to the country. He will be missed in the country, and his death will be a great loss to the country."

"President Harding was a man of great ability, and his death has been a great loss to the country. He will be missed in the country, and his death will be a great loss to the country."

"No man in this great land of ours has been so loved by the people as President Harding. He was a man of great ability, and his death has been a great loss to the country. He will be missed in the country, and his death will be a great loss to the country."

"In the military responsibility, darkness by the shadow of death has come to him."

"He will meet it as he has met every duty bravely and well. He is a high-minded man of distinguished ability, clear sighted, wise and courageous. He will be an honor to the great place he now holds. At this hour, facing his vast responsibilities, he will have the confidence, the support and the sympathy of the people of his own country, and of every right feeling and right thinking man and woman in the United States."

Hub Churches to Hold Services for Harding

Special church services for President Harding will probably be held in Boston churches and synagogues tomorrow. Owing to the large number of clergymen from the city at the present time, there has been a delay in making plans. Union services will be the rule, it is understood. Rabbi Samuel J. Abrams of Brooklyn said that the rabbis would meet later in the day to arrange for the services. Later in the month, he said, more elaborate and lengthy services would be held in the Jewish synagogue.

"30 For Harding" Keymen's Signal Death Had Won

The telegraph operator's sign for "Harding" is "30."

When news of the death of President Harding came, keymen all over the country flashed "30 for Harding." The President's newspaper man, had known the signal and what it meant.

The solemn "30" for President Harding was echoed in another "30" for Edwin Graham of Massachusetts, who today automatically becomes the 30th President of the United States.

FOUR HARDING PROJECTS NEAR DECISION

Washington, Aug. 3 (A.P.)—Four of President Harding's projects are at a time when the decision of the major projects of his administration is being decided.

It was well known among his friends that one of the influences leading him to take the trip to Mexico was his desire to carry to the country his message of American friendship to the World.

Within a few weeks the naval treaty, regarded by Mr. Harding as a lasting monument to his administration, is to be presented to the Senate.

ENGLISH ROYALTY TO WEAR MOURNING FOR PRES. HARDING

LONDON, Aug. 3 (A.P.)—The English royal family is to wear mourning for President Harding.

The King commands that the court shall wear mourning for one week.

The King's message to the President's family is to be presented to the Senate.

MAKES CONTEST SURE IN G. O. P. CONVENTION

Washington, Aug. 3 (A.P.)—President Harding's death has made a contest sure in the G. O. P. convention.

It probably will turn what many expected to be merely a routine meeting into a contest for the Republican Presidential nomination.

with the latest conservative line of President Harding without any previous notice. The President's death has made a contest sure in the G. O. P. convention.

LOOK — THERE'S MONEY AND LUCK IN YOUR NAME

NAMESTERS!

What can you do with your name?

Can you make a funny sentence out of it? Or a wise one? Or a snappy one? Or a slangy one? Or any kind of a sentence?

The Boston American offers prizes for bright or unusual sentences made up of the first letters of either your FIRST, middle or LAST name.

Every one printed gets a dollar. Each week a prize of $5 will be given to the best one used that week.

Everybody in Boston takes a shot at this game. It's simply a fun way of trying to figure out the different sentences you can make in this way. And if you get one printed it means a dollar, or $5 if it is the best one printed during the week.

Send as many as you like. Make up sentences from your first, middle or last name. Nobody is barred.

Today's winners:

We often lose friends.

Too often the truth is exaggerated.

FINANCE AND TRADE

By EDWIN L. CLAPP

When Collier's interviewed Henry Ford and advised him of being President, he talked of finance. The subject of money was prominent in his personal experience. "What was the thing when he said that?"

Any business which is doing a necessary social service ought to be able to keep itself in the black. It is a general thing in business that an enterprise which is not profitable ought to be able to keep itself in the black. It is a general thing in business that an enterprise which is not profitable ought to be able to keep itself in the black. It is a general thing in business that an enterprise which is not profitable ought to be able to keep itself in the black.

What would Mr. Ford have done with the savings of his country, which are now in the hands of banks and made available for the use of the country? He would have done with the savings of his country, which are now in the hands of banks and made available for the use of the country? He would have done with the savings of his country, which are now in the hands of banks and made available for the use of the country?

The main of investigation now being conducted by the United States and the Federal Reserve Board is to find out just what is the cost of producing wheat in the United States and what can be done about it.

As Justice Brandeis points out, not all the producers of wheat are in trouble, even when wheat is selling at 11 per bushel. There are some who are in trouble, but not all.

It is a good thing, during the time of the wheat shortage, that the United States is not a net importer of wheat. It is a good thing, during the time of the wheat shortage, that the United States is not a net importer of wheat.

The wheat shortage in districts east of the Western frontier, which is the cause of the wheat shortage, is the cause of the wheat shortage. The wheat shortage in districts east of the Western frontier, which is the cause of the wheat shortage, is the cause of the wheat shortage.

The fact of diversity of all of the wheat, factors in the wheat shortage. The fact of diversity of all of the wheat, factors in the wheat shortage. The fact of diversity of all of the wheat, factors in the wheat shortage.
